I am a highly motivated, social and energetic person who has worked within different sectors, and I love new challenges. I have experience in both practical work and within sales. I love working with people, both colleagues and customers. I am future oriented and want to help further develop the society. This is also why I have been working in a Startup company that helps turn windmills into new sustainable products. I want to contribute to a better future in all aspects, both economically, sustainably and socially. I really hope to be able to take part in this exchange program in South Africa to learn more about the cultural differences and to make me more reflected as a person.
