Action Plan for Equality, Inclusion and Diversity

Western Norway University of Applied Sciences
2026 – 2030

Introduction

The overarching strategy of Western Norway University of Applied Sciences (HVL) for the period 2023–2030¹ sets out clear ambitions and concrete objectives for the institution, in which fundamental human rights values and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals are central. These are operationalised through a range of areas and initiatives, for example leadership, competence development, research and education.

The Action Plan for Equality, Inclusion and Diversity is intended to contribute to ensuring that HVL meets the future as an institution founded on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. Particular emphasis is placed on Goal No. 4 (Quality Education), No. 5 (Gender Equality), No. 10 (Reduced Inequalities) and No. 16 (Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions).

The Research Council of Norway and the European Commission have introduced requirements for organisational-level gender equality plans (“Gender Equality Plans”). These requirements apply to applicants and partners in national calls and calls under Horizon Europe.

In order to ensure that equality, inclusion and diversity are maintained, safeguarded and further developed, HVL – as a state-owned public organisation and employer, an academic institution and a societal actor – shall comply with applicable legislation and relevant ethical guidelines, including:

- the Equality and Anti-Discrimination Act²
- the Working Environment Act³
- the Universities and University Colleges Act⁴
- the Planning and Building Act⁵

In addition, HVL shall not only maintain zero tolerance for discrimination, bullying and harassment (including sexual harassment), but shall also actively contribute to a more inclusive, sustainable and diverse society. This societal responsibility is particularly important at a time when equality, inclusion and diversity are under threat within academic institutions in several countries.

- Equality and the prohibition of discrimination are defined in the Equality and Anti-Discrimination Act. HVL shall promote equality, equal dignity, equal opportunities and equal rights among staff and students, and prevent discrimination on the grounds of gender, pregnancy, leave in connection with childbirth or adoption, caregiving responsibilities, ethnicity, religion, belief, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, and other significant personal characteristics.

- Inclusion is explicitly stated as one of the three core values in HVL’s strategy for 2023–2030. This may be understood to mean that all students and employees of HVL, as well as partners and visitors, shall be met “with respect and consideration” .
- Diversity in academia is not a clearly defined concept and is often limited to ethnic diversity or social background. In this action plan, diversity shall not be understood solely in terms of ethnicity, but also in relation to gender, age, disability, sexual orientation and other significant personal characteristics. The diversity perspective is central both to representation and participation, and to perspectives relating to education, research and innovation.

Equality, inclusion and diversity are values, resources and part of the everyday work of staff and students, and shall be supported and put into practice.

About the Action Plan

HVL has established a Council for Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (RLMI) . The purpose of the Council is to promote genuine equality, inclusion and diversity at HVL. The Council supports the leadership and monitors the implementation of work related to equality, inclusion and diversity, and shall be alert to circumstances that may lead to breaches of legislation and institutional guidelines⁸.

RLMI shall also prepare an Action Plan for Equality, Inclusion and Diversity, which is adopted by the Rector. The present plan constitutes a revision of an earlier action plan (2021–2025). It shall meet the following four requirements:

- identify dedicated resources for work on equality;
- encourage annual reporting and follow-up;
- support training and competence development;
- be publicly accessible on the institution's website.

Anchoring and ownership of the work across the leadership of HVL are prerequisites for achieving the objectives of the plan.

Follow-up, reporting and evaluation of the plan shall be conducted annually. RLMI may propose amendments to the plan, its objectives and its measures on the basis of available information and data arising from the work of implementing the plan.

The action plan is structured as a table consisting of three parts:

Part 1 concerns Organisation and Leadership.

Part 2 concerns Knowledge, Competence Development and Engagement.

Part 3 focuses on Education, Research and Innovation.

Managers of the relevant units within the faculties and the central administration are responsible for the measures set out in the action plan. Managers may further delegate the operational tasks within their units. The person responsible for the measures is also responsible for how the measures are followed up and assessed. Responsible managers shall ensure the participation of employees and close cooperation with employee representatives and the health and safety service in the development of the measures.

The faculties, institutes and administrative units may have different contexts and challenges related to equality, inclusion and diversity. The action plan therefore places strong emphasis on local measures to be further developed by the faculties, institutes and the administrative units, so that the intentions of HVL's action plan can be made concrete and adapted to different needs and contexts.

At the same time, there is a need for an intersectional approach⁹, in which experienced barriers, prejudices and privileges may be interrelated, and the action plan shall reflect this complexity.

The Action Plan was adopted by the rector on 5 March 2023 (document reference 26/O1337-2).
